Preface where I explain EVERYTHING

I got the idea from GDMS's Control over Actions on the Wings of Fire wikia, so it's basically the same thing, but with two major differences.

1) I am posting this exact thing in three different places (here, the BlogClan 2 wiki, and the Wings of Fire wiki) as an experiment of sorts, because I want to see how different this will get. I'll give you all the same starting polls and prompt and such, but obviously everyone will answer differently because mostly different community (there are a few overlaps).

2) This is Warriors-based and not Wings of Fire-based (though I might do a WOF one later, if this one goes well), because of the other places where this is being posted. If you're not a Warriors fan you're welcome to join anyway!

So basically if you don't know what Control over Actions is, I give you guys polls that determine what happen in the story based on your answers. That's pretty much it. Vote by posting your answer in the comments. This isn't ideal since I'd prefer that it's anonymous, but I don't see any other way to do it.

If you're a member of the other communities I'm posting this on you're welcome to participate in more than one, since they will most likely end quite differently, but please don't try to steer it based on something from the other ones.

The plot is: Our main character (which we will determine in the first polls) has a brother who has gone missing and will go on a quest to look for them. THAT'S ALL I'M GIVING YOU! YOU DECIDE THE REST! :D

Polls 1

Our character is named Ivywing of ThunderClan, and she's female! Thanks guys! :D

You (Ivywing) wake up and look around for your brother and best friend. The camp is alive with the cats of ThunderClan chatting, eating, and sharing tongues. The kits are playing hide-and-seek under a fallen log near the elders' den. The medicine cat apprentice is returning toward the medicine den with a mouthful of herbs. But your brother is nowhere to be found. You see two cats who miiiiight be able to help you.

Squirrelshade, your brother's smart and giggly mate.

And Birchleaf, the burly and quiet deputy, one of your brother's close friends.

You:

1) Talk to Squirrelshade

2) Talk to Birchleaf

3) Talk to someone else

4) Go out in the forest and look for him yourself!

Polls 2

So you decide to talk to Squirrelshade! She seems distracted and annoyed when you arrive, but apologizes and puts it off to "not getting a lot of sleep." She tells you that she woke up and your brother wasn't in their nest, and to look for him in the forest, for maybe he went out hunting. She then hurries away to make dirt.

You:

1) Follow her. That sounded pretty suspicious.

2) Take her advice and head to the forest.

3) Talk to Birchleaf.

4) Talk to someone else.

5) Follow a different lead

Polls 3

So, you decide to follow Squirrelshade. She heads through the dirtplace tunnel and makes dirt as promised, but she then leaves through the dirtplace tunnel and goes to a tree near the WindClan border where she is... drumroll secretly meeting a WindClan tom!

You angrily confront her and she says that she and your brother weren't happy together anymore and she fell in love with the WindClan tom at a Gathering, who claims he didn't know she had a ThunderClan mate as well. You've discovered something important, but it's brought you no closer to finding your brother. You're left fuming with no useful information about your brother.

You:

1) Continue to press them for information about your brother

2) Storm off and talk to  Birchleaf.

3) Storm off and tell the Clan what she's been doing

4) Storm off and talk to someone else

5) Storm off and start looking for your brother on your own.

@Owlwater

@Waspwing

Polls 4

So you decide to storm off and talk to Birchleaf. You hear Squirrelshade hurriedly say goodbye to her WindClan mate and follow you, and she asks you what's going to happen. You ignore her. She apologizes and promises to help look for your brother.

In camp, you get Birchleaf and tell him what Squirrelshade has done and ask him if you've seen your brother, but you say it louder than you mean to (or maybe not >:3) and the whole Clan hears. Your brother is quite popular among the Clan and many cats are angry at her and think she did something to him. The leader comes out of his den and says Squirrelshade will be confined to camp and on apprentice duties for now, and he'll look into the situation and takes a patrol to WindClan to talk to the leader about the situation. You are not included.

A bunch of cats come and talk to you after that. A patrol wants to help you find your brother, and Birchleaf says that he saw your brother leave the camp very early in the morning, and to check the forest. He trips over his words quite a bit when talking to you, but he gives quality information.

You:

1) Take his advice and head to the forest.

2) Follow the leader's patrol to WindClan

3) Take the patrol to the forest.

4) Follow a completely different lead.

A/N: Long description because this is so late, sorry! >.<

Polls 5

So you decide to head to the forest. While scouring the entire forest, you see some other cats from your Clan, but you don't stop to talk. But at the very edge of the territory, near where the WindClan border meets the rogue border (but on the rogue border) you find a tuft of your brother's fur on a bramble bush.

You:

1) Follow it immediately!

2) Go find the nearest cat and ask their opinion

3) Go back to camp and ask for permission

4) Go back to camp and get a patrol of the best trackers you can find

5) Continue scouting the area.

@Mousedapple

@Catbiites

Polls 6

You decide to go ahead and keep following it, and cross out of ThunderClan territory. You follow the scent for quite a white and it becomes clearer, like your brother has stopped trying to disguise his scent. That unhappy thought hits you - he was trying to disguise it, or someone else disgused it for him. What's that all about?

You keep following the scent for a good portion of the day, and when the sun starts to sink you're ready to find a good spot to sleep for the night. You keep following the scent, looking for a good place to sleep, when you find a small area under the roots of a tree hollowed out by the stream running right next to it. Some moss is under there and your brother's scent is all over it. He slept here!

You:

1) Curl up in your brother's nest and go to sleep.

2) Keep following the trail.

0vipermask0 (I'm sorry it's not letting me get to your comment but I saw it in my notifications, we've already closed those polls, this is the open one ^^)

Polls 7

You decide to keep on following the trail. Your head is starting to droop with tiredness and the night is getting darker and colder, but you keep on going.

Your brother followed the stream, you can tell, and stopped to rest in a patch of bracken. But after about half the night of walking, his scent suddenly takes a sharp turn into the stream and disappears. But something is up. There are other cat scents here, and there is a bush that looks squashed, like a tree fell on it. However, there are no signs of a battle.

You:

1) Check the surrounding area.

2) Cross the stream and see if your brother's scent is on the other side.

3) Find a place to go to sleep.

4) Check the bush more thoroughly

Polls 8

You decide to check the surrounding area, but find nothing except more scents and a vole, which you catch and devour. The bush seems more and more like something fell on it, and behind it you find a fallen tree.

You:

1) Check the tree

2) Go back and follow the scents

I am so sorry this is late, I had a New Year's party and then I was tired, and it's short because I'm running out of time. Sorry! >.<

Polls 9

You decide to check the tree, and there's even more nothing. The scents fade out around here, so the cats didn't really come this way. Disappointment is filling you, but you have to keep going. You jump back over the bush to find the area where the scents are strong again, tail drooping.

You:

1) Go back and follow the scents

2) Check the bush again

Lakeshimmer

Polls 10

Gah this is so lateeeeeeee DX

You decide to go back and follow the scents. Dawn breaks and you can see better, and you find yourself in a thin, hilly forest far beyond Clan territory. But lo and behold, as it goes on your brother's scent appears! It must have gotten washed away in the stream and as he dried off the scent reappeared.

You follow the scent through the morning and when the sun is about halfway in the sky, you arrive very tired at a thick, prickly, bushy wall. The scents seem to go right through it, so there is obviously a hidden entrance.

You:

1) Find a place to sleep. You'll be more refreshed afterward.

2) Call to the cats inside/find a cat

3) Search this area of the wall more thouroughly

4) Search the entire wall

Polls 11

(Yeah, so this is super late. I've gotten really busy. I'm so sorry ;-;)

You decide to search that area of the wall more thoroughly, and find that it's made by someone who really knows what they're doing. There's prickly brambles but also secure branches and soft ferns, all woven together. And a tiny hole, just big enough for a cat to squeeze through, reveals an entrance.

You:

1) Hide and wait for cats to come out

2) Jump through the entrance

3) Search the other parts of the wall

4) Find some materials and see if you can re-create it

Polls 12

(Yep I'm late. Again. So sorry.)

You decide to jump through the secret entrance as fast as you can. You do, and are met with a camp-like setting. Cats are milling around, and at first they don't notice you. There aren't many of them, and many of the dens are small and blocked by spiky thorns.

You:

Jump into the nearest den

Go back out and confront the other cats

Go up and talk to one of the cats in the camp

@Lakeshimmer

Polls 13

You decide to go up and talk to one of the cats in camp. You look around and realize there are five cats you could talk to.

You approach the:

1) Shy-looking small cat hanging out by the wall (Moonwatcher cat)

2) Bold-looking cat stalking toward you (Winter/Carnelian cat)

3) Two cats sharing a squirrel and chatting (Turtle and Kinkajou cats...?)

4) Thoughtful-looking cat sitting on a ledge, trying to seem as if they are not watching you (Qibli cat)

5) None of them, you go and try the cats outside

(In case you don't know, the character references above are to the Jade Mountain Academy Dragonets from Wings of Fire. That actually wasn't intentional, I got to this part of the story about a month and a half ago on the Wings of Fire wiki and one of the people who replies and votes on there pointed out that I followed the WOF protagonists from the second series without realizing it. XD)

Polls 14

You decide to approach the (Winter/Carnelian) cat stalking angrily toward you. They stop in front of you, their tail lashing.

"Who are you?" they snap. "How dare you walk straight into our camp! Explain yourself at once!"

Now everybody's staring at you.

You:

1) Run and hide in a den

2) Run outside

3) Tell the truth

4) Lie

Polls 15

You gulp and flick your tail nervously, and take a deep breath. "I'm Ivywing, a ThunderClan warrior. I'm looking for my brother, he's gone missing. I just stumbled into your camp on accident."

Cats gasp and stare at you. Some seem less hostile, but some seem more. Then they part for a golden tabby she-cat who seems to be a leader of sorts. "Welcome, Ivywing," she meows. "I'm Laila, one of the Top Hunters. Why don't you come rest in my den? It must have been a long journey." Something about her tone makes it seem like she's not asking a question.

You:

1) Do as she asks

2) Decline and leave

3) Ask what the Top Hunters are

Sorry for the wait! I've had three auditions in one week and I might have another later this week, so it's kind of a pressing week. But I'll try to update on time.

We reached the fifteenth poll, woohoo!

Polls 16

You decide to ask what the Top Hunters are. Laila pauses, as if surprised. Cats begin to mutter to themselves, but you can't catch much of it. Laila says that the Top Hunters are the three highest hunters in the Shadow Hunters, which is what they are.

You:

1) Ask her to elaborate

2) Ask about the Shadow Hunters

3) Frown and nod

I'm going to Washington DC on a school trip today and I'll be busy, so I probably won't be updating until Wednsday-Thursday, sorry!
